Minden residents voice concerns over housing

Cost, lack of integration into the community are among the main issues in controversy

Concerns about a Rural and Native Housing Program which has provided three houses to low income families in the Minden area were given a thorough airing last Thursday when program administrators and local citizens attended a meeting of Anson, Hindon and Minden council.

The program, administered through the federal Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation, gives qualifying families a chance to purchase a new or existing home with a 25 year subsidized mortgage. Payments are established according to a formula that takes into account the number of children in a family and other factors, and amount to 25 percent of income.

Three houses were constructed in Minden under the program this year, and a fourth home is scheduled to be built or purchased from existing housing stock.

The location of that fourth home sparked a controversy that led to last Thursday's public discussion of the program. Officials of the program, which is administered from Peterborough for the local area, moved to purchase a lot in Highland Gate Estates for the fourth home, but residents of the development objected and the idea was dropped. The Highland Gate homeowners' objections were based on the high cost of the lot rather than on any concern about people who might get the home, officials were told.

Program manager D. Moulds of Peterborough was pressed last Thursday to defend the cost of the houses built in Minden under the program, the design of the homes, and the program's effectiveness in reaching deserving families.

While Moulds refused to be specific about the costs of the three houses completed recently in Minden, he said the value of each house was "in the low 60 (thousand dollar range)", well below the figure of $80,000 plus which was used in initial discussions of the program with council.

Citizens also expressed concern about the fact that the three houses were built side by side, and do not "fit" the existing mosaic of the community.

Brendan Berube, who spoke on behalf of Highland Gate Estate residents in earlier discussions with council, said "the only thing missing on those houses is a flashing sign saying low income families."

Moulds responded that the houses were built according to design criteria established by the federal government, and different coloured siding was used on each house to vary their appearance.

Berube claimed the program should be used to purchase existing housing stock whenever possible, a move which would avoid the problem of houses that are out of character with their surroundings. He also suggested that buying and renovating existing houses might be cheaper than ' constructing new homes.

But Moulds countered that the object of the program was to provide housing which people could afford to purchase over a 25 year period without the added burden of the high maintenance and heating costs of older homes. He also noted that modest older homes which would suit low income families are not readily available on the housing market.

Moulds was pressed to discuss the overall success of the Rural and Native Housing Program, and in particular the number of defaults and evictions which occur, but he refused to do so, saying only that "defaults are down" across the province, but are still "higher than we'd like."

Under questioning from councillor Pat Burk, Moulds admitted that the program suffers from the lack of an effective counselling service for its clients.

"That's a real problem area, because we can't tell someone how to live," Moulds said. If they want to abuse the house that's up to them. It's their house."

"We're a housing agency, not a counselling service," he said.

One new house is expected to be built in Minden under the 1984 allotment, and the agency will continue to look for a suitable lot, Moulds said.

In 1985, some 34 units will be available through the Peterborough Rural and Native Housing program office, but Moulds was unable to say how many of that number, if any, might be built in Haliburton County.

Scenes of rural life like this one along the Old Donald Road are not as common as they once were in Haliburton County, but the local Farmers Association is working hard to revitalize the agricultural aspect of the county economy. The association has undertaken a study aimed at tackling some of the problems facing local farmers.

Police investigate murder/suicide

A man who was found dead at a dump in Stanhope Township is thought to have murdered his parents at a residence in Ennismore Township before putting a gun to his own head.

The body of John Arthur Fawkes, age 33, was discovered at the dump on North Shore Road by two area residents, who notified police. The dead man was in a car later identified as belonging to his mother.

Earlier, Peterborough OPP were called in to investigate the stabbing deaths of the man's parents, John Frank Fawkes, age 75, and Beryl Fawkes, age 63. The victims were discovered at 8 p.m. on Sunday, September 25.

The incident is being investigated by a detective inspector from OPP headquarters in Toronto, a detective sergeant from Peterborough detachment, and a Peterborough constable.

John Arthur Fawkes is thought to have resided in the Haliburton area a number of years ago.

No further details were available at press time.

Police seek help in stopping thefts

Local provincial police want area residents to adopt a co operative approach in a bid to reduce the number of breakins occuring throughout Haliburton County. Police say 44 breakins were reported in September, traditionally one of the worst months for forced entry and theft occurrences.

Two of the most serious thefts were reported last week. Mechanic's tools, chainsaws and a generator valued at approximately $9000 were stolen from a storage shed on Highway 121 near Minden by thieves who pried a lock hasp from the building to gain entry. In another occurence, a padlock was sawn off a sugar shack at Trooper Lake in Glamorgan Township and a chainsaw and generator valued at $3000 were stolen.

Community services officer Gary Chapman of the Minden detachment said Tuesday that while "it's not possible to completely eliminate

Farmers study land use issue

Haliburton County's Farmers Association is poised to embark on a three phase program that could lead to a strengthening of the role of agriculture in the local economy.

Phase one of the program will involve greater emphasis by the farmers association on exchanging information with the public and various government ministries, as well as an effort to enhance the role of the association in promoting agricultural concerns.

Second phase of the program would include adoption of a series of planning and resource development initiatives designed to increase agricultural productivity in the county.

The third phase could involve the establishment of secondary industries supplied by area agricultural products.

Phase one of the study, entitled "Agriculture in Haliburton County: a Blueprint for the Future", was presented to the association by director Ernie Hills at a meeting in Minden last Tuesday night.

Main focus of Hill's presentation was land use within the county. The challenge facing local and provincial governments, Hills said, "is to allow agriculture the widest scope for development and incentive for expansion while ensuring the preservation of the land base over the short term, from the immediate demands of the other resource sectors."

As a first step, Hills called on county and municipal administrations to endorse a resolution establishing the preservation and development of agricultural land as a planning priority.

Hills said his initial reason for examining land use was "the high profile policy of reforestation by the Ministry of Natural Resources", which he claimed "was inappropriate given the economic climate and the stress upon agricultural land in other parts of the province."

To deal with the problem, he recommended in his report that the Farmers Association establish a land use committee to promote the idea of agricultural land use as a sound alternative to reforestation. The committee would work with the MNR to determine the agricultural potential of land earmarked for reforestation and discuss with owners the possibility of agricultural rehabilitation of suitable tracts of land.

Hills also recommended to the Association that an agricultural land registry be established which would bring land owners and farmers together to build a stronger agricultural base in the county.

He also recommended in Phase one of his report that the Farmers Association create an information liason with the MNR and the Ministry of the Environment "for the purpose of establishing a system of communications on relevant environmental issues."

The report advocates that local farm organizations play a more active role in career days at local schools and sponsor scientific projects focussing on horticulture and animal husbandry.

"An interesting concept would involve the integration of 4H into the curriculum, given that the ongoing difficulties in establishing an active program in Haliburton concern the cost of transportation and the availability of facilities," Hills said. He urged the association to bring the matter to the attention of the board of education.

Final recommendation in Hills' nine page report was that the local association endorse the veterinary services program as it is currently administered "in the most emphatic terms", and try to expand it to include services not presently available.

Hills' ideas are expected to be the focus of ongoing discussions by the Farmers Association.

Bus operators get new contract

The Haliburton County Board of Education has reached agreement on a two year contract that will give bus operators in Haliburton County an increase of 4.5 percent in their contract price with the board for the 1984-85 school year. An increase for the second year of the contract will be negotiated at a later date.

Annual basic rate for two trips per day will range from $4,302.26 for cars and station wagons to $10,261.90 for an 84 passenger bus. The variable cost per kilometre, which is added to the basic rate, will range from 32.2 cents to 60.1 cents, depending on the size of the vehicle.

Total payment to bus operators is the sum of fixed costs based on pupil load, plus the product of the total kilometres driven, the variable cost per kilometre, and 200 days.

The board also agreed to an increase in the gasoline escalator clause, which is intended to give bus operators some measure of protection from sudden increases in the price of fuel. Under the new contract the board will pay an extra gasoline allowance of $0.0047 cents per kilometre for each increase of one cent per litre above 39.55 cents per litre. If the price falls below 39.55 cents a litre at the pump, the board will deduct a similar amount for each one cent decrease.

The method of determining the lowest available pump price has been changed in the new contract to provide a fairer arrangement for both parties. In the past the price was determined at approximately the sixth day of the month, and the escalator payment was made on the 15th of the month. Now, however, the escalator payment will be based on the average pump price per litre for the whole month as provided by a local wholesaler, and the money will be paid to bus operators on the 15th of the following month.

The new contract received unanimous approval from the board.

Echo to cost 40 cents at newstands

Beginning with this week's issue, the newstand price of the Haliburton County Echo will rise to 40 cents per copy, an increase of five cents.

The new price reflects subscription rate increases which were implemented October 1. A one year subscription to the Echo for residents of the county is now $16. Subscriptions outside the county are now $23, including mailing costs. Subscribers in the United States and other foreign countries are available for $28.50, including mailing charges.

Senior citizens are entitled to a discount for their personal subscriptions. Rates for seniors in the county are $13, for those outside the county, $19, and for destinations outside Canada, $23.

The newstand and subscription rate increases are the result of higher production and printing costs.

Cardiff minutes

A regular meeting of the council of the Corporation of the Township of Cardiff was held September 7. All members of council were present. The following matters were considered:

Roma Insurance Program beginning July 1, 1984 to July 1, 1985, in the amount of $5,167.00, was accepted.

The Colborne Creek Road issue will be reviewed prior to next year's budget in March of 1985 and G. Ott will be advised as such.

Disbursement Voucher 84-8 and payroll cheques in the amount of $49,773.80 were approved for payment. A recorded vote was requested by Ross Duncan (Deputy Reeve). Yeas - John Irwin, Paul Slighte, Debbie Donaldson, Mack Peters. Nays - Ross Duncan. The resolution was carried by four votes.

Council supported the Haliburton Alcohol and Drug Education Centre Inc. by sending a letter of support.

Louis Gyori was authorized to construct two cabins with approval of the By-law Enforcement Officer pending a rezoning application be submitted within 30 days.

A lottery number was granted to the Township Recreation Committee to hold a lottery draw.

The Ministry of Transportation and Communication were requested to replace resort area signing at McGillivray Road on Highway #28, Bicroft Mine Road on Highway #121 and Diamond Lake Road on Highway #648 with new format signs.

The Township gave permission to the By-law Enforcement officer to issue a building permit to the applicant for an extension to the side or the rear of a legal non-conforming building within the guidelines of the Comprehensive By-law.

Council directed the clerk-treasurer to write to Bicroft and Faraday Townships a letter of support of the letter from the Paudash Conservation Association regarding a furtherance of the septic study on Paudash Lake within their respective jurisdiction.

A special meeting of the Council of the Corporation of the Township of Cardiff was called by the reeve and held on September 14. The purpose of the meeting was to review guidelines for the Ontario Youth Corps Programme, and to review the municipality's recreation by-laws with a view to updating same.

All council members were present, with the exception of Councillor Debbie S. Donaldson.

The clerk was authorized

Groups may get break on arena rental

Anson, Hindon and Minden deputy reeve Ed Pergolas wants the municipality to waive arena rental charges for community groups which work "for the betterment of the community."

Pergolas said the gesture might encourage more groups to hold fund raising events and donate the money to community projects.

The deputy reeve indicated that if the municipality dropped its normal arena rental charge, there would be greater incentive for local organizations to put money back into the facility.

"There's a big expenditure to be made at the arena," Pergolas said. He said new tables and chairs are needed for the auditorium, boards around the ice surface are worn out and should be replaced with plastic barriers and money is needed to purchase and install plexiglass above the boards.

"It'll give them an incentive to hold things there," Pergolas said in support of his proposal.

Councillor Gary Kenney was concerned that the term "betterment of the community" might be open to broader interpretation than council could support, however. He suggested council consult with its solicitor in order to ensure that the wording of Pergolas' proposed resolution was as precise as possible.

For his part, councillor Dave Stevens supported the principal of waiving arena rental charges for some activities.

"If you don't try to absorb some of the costs of the community centre, you're not going to get too many people saying, 'we're going to put money back into the community centre'," Stevens said.

Pergolas' suggestion was left in the hands of the clerk to be passed on to the municipality's solicitor for comment.

Tenders called for new office

Tenders have been called for a new building to house the Haliburton Highlands Chamber of Commerce. The Chamber will also tender for removal of its existing office and for removal of a mobile office unit beside the present building.

The new building is expected to be constructed on a concrete pad once the present office complex has been moved or dismantled. Haliburton County has agreed to provide up to $15,000 for the new office, while the Chamber has set aside up to $16,000 for the structure.

A committee of council considered and rejected the possibility of purchasing a display cottage from a nearby Highway 35 location and renovating it for a new Chamber office.

Anson, Hindon and Minden council has agreed to provide the Chamber with a temporary office space in the municipal building in Minden, free of charge, until the end of the year if necessary.

Tenders for the new building, removal of the existing office, and removal of the mobile office trailer, close Saturday, October 13.

Construction is up in Minden

The construction trade is being kept busy in Anson, Hindon and Minden Townships this year with a record value of building permits issued by the municipality.

Chief building inspector Dick Schell told council last Thursday that between January and the end of August this year, the estimated value of work carried out with building permits was $2,408,405. The total includes new housing starts, new cottages, renovations to existing houses and cottages, as well as commercial structures.

Schell noted that 1984 is the best year for building starts that the municipality has seen in at least 13 years.

The increased assessment for new and improved structures would generate $36,000 in tax revenue for the municipality at 1984 mill rates, council was told.

Minden church plans expansion

Minden's Roman Catholic Church is planning to expand.

Bishop Doyle of the Diocese of Peterborough recently announced approval of the proposed expansion. The addition to the church will be built at right angles to the sanctuary in the direction of the hospital. It will be sixty feet in lengh with a width of thirty two feet, the same as the present church.

The facility will be a dual purpose one, providing space not only for normal parish functions but also additional seating capacity for Mass during the summer, since it will be open to the sanctuary area.

Bishop Doyle indicated that construction could commence once 50% of the project's cost have been raised at the local level. Fund raising projects have already started and Father Thomas Palakal said he is hopeful that construction can start in 1985.

this type of crime, a concerted effort could help." Chapman said local residents should adopt a neighbourhood watch approach, keeping an eye out for unusual occurences. Even if police are not contacted in every case, investigation of crimes can be simplified if people take the time to jot down licence numbers and descriptions of any suspicious vehicles or persons they see in their area, Chapman said.

Minden awaits legal advice as stop work order ignored

Despite a neighbouring property owner's pleas for swifter and more decisive action, Anson, Hindon and Minden council will let its solicitor decide what steps should be taken to enforce a stop work order posted on a cottage under construction on Block A, Plan 561, Soyers Lake.

In a letter to council, B.D. VanKoughnet, who owns the property beside the lot on which the stop work order has been posted, said "immediate action must be taken" by council to enforce municipal by-laws which prohibit construction of a dwelling on the undersized lot.

VanKoughnet claimed a fine should be levied and a court order obtained "to force dismantling of the building until the original problem is resolved."

"If council fails to take some firm action now and allows the building to continue unchallenged, council and the by-law officer would no longer have any credibility and anarchy would soon be the norm throughout the township," VanKoughnet said in his letter to council.

In response to VanKoughnet, who was present at a council session Thursday night, reeve Lyle McKnight said he would be "very reluctant to ask council to make any decision without the advice of our solicitor (Fraser Rogers). He has advised us that this is the way we should proceed."

"He has it in hand," McKnight said.

The lot in question formerly was owned by the municipality, which obtained it under a five percent parkland designation when other lots were created in the area. The lot, which has only 71 feet of lake frontage, was traded to developer Gary Vasey as part of a deal through which the municipality obtained the former Welch property on Minden's main street.

Under a zoning by-law adopted in 1982 and later rescinded, the lot was rezoned residential. Vasey subsequently sold the lot to an individual who be began constructing a cottage. Controversy centres on the fact that the lot's frontage is nine feet less than the minimum required under residential zoning, and that the by-law under which it was rezoned is no longer in force.

Faced with pressure from Soyers Lake ratepayers, council posted a stop work order on the structure until the controversy could be resolved.

But the order has been ignored, council was told last Thursday. The owner "is defying everybody" VanKoughnet said. "He's laughing at you."

Reeve McKnight emphasized that in his view, council is dealing with the matter in the correct way.

"We do have a solicitor. We've placed it in his hands. I for one am not going to move until he tells me to," McKnight told VanKoughnet. Rogers will tell council "what we can do and what we should do," McKnight said.

VanKoughnet responded that Rogers must have felt the stop work order was legal or he wouldn't have had it issued.

"You issued the stop work order and (the owner) has to comply with it," or the authority of the by-law officer will be undermined, VanKoughnet claimed.

Councillor Gary Kenney observed that "it seems there's more enforceability of a parking ticket than there is of a stop work order."

McKnight ended the discussion by restating council's intent to follow Rogers' advice.

Clerk Bev Millar said council expects to receive a written report from Rogers "in the very near future."

Renovations to the Dysart arena are progressing rapidly as the minor hockey season approaches. Two new dressing rooms have been added at the side of the structure, and the lobby will be expanded. Washrooms are also being moved in the course of the project.

Company buys subdivision residents want road fixed

A road into the Cox Hill Estates development in Minden Township may be assumed into the municipal system sooner than anticipated because the entire development of vacant lots has been purchased in a block by a single buyer.

The development was created by Elmer Hodsoll, who signed a formal subdivision agreement with the municipality on August 12, 1981. Under the standard wording of such agreements, council agreed to assume the subdivision road into the municipal system once half the lots had been sold and building permits issued for one quarter of the total number of lots.

Two weeks ago, however, the entire subdivision was purchased from Hodsoll for approximately a quarter of a million dollars by Sherwood Developments, a Toronto based company which uses seminar sales techniques to attract buyers.

The matter was brought to council's attention by Bern Barry, who indicated he was speaking on behalf of six other ratepayers on Victor Drive, near the Cox Hill development. Barry said the Cox Farm Road, built and maintained by Hodsoll under the subdivision agreement with council, is in 'washboard' condition, and has been graded only once since it was completed in 1981. He sought assurances from council that since "95 percent of the lots have been sold" to Sherwood Developments (Hodsoll retained one lot), one of the two criteria for assuming the road into the municipal system had been met, and asked that council begin to maintain it once five building permits are issued. He also asked the municipality to inform Sherwood Developments that the company must maintain the road in the meantime.

Reeve Lyle McKnight responded that while council had never before encountered a situation in which one developer sells all his lots to another developer, he felt the sale did fulfill one of the two criteria for municipal assumption of the Cox Farm Road.

Councillor Gary Kenney saw the matter in a different light. He argued that the intent of hte subdivision agreement between council and the developer was that at least 50 percent of the lots would have to be sold to individual owners before council would consider assuming the road. The owners would then be contributing taxes to municipal coffers which would help offset road maintenance costs.

Berry disagreed with Kenney's interpretation of the clause however, pointing out that the wording does not stipulate that the lots must be sold to a number of individuals, merely that at least 50 percent of them must be sold.

Reeve Lyle McKnight agreed. "My personal opinion is that (Berry) is right," he said. He noted that the taxes paid by the new single owner would be the same as those paid by a number of individual owners.

McKnight said that in his view, the issuing of five more building permits for properties in the Cox Hill Estate development would fulfill the second criteria for assumption of the road.

The matter was left in the hands of the road committee, who will report back to council.

Murray to seek PC nomination

The Reeve of Fenelon Township, Dave Murray, has announced his candidacy in the upcoming Victoria-Haliburton Progressive Conservative convention to select a candidate to run in the next provincial election.

Murray also was a candidate in the last provincial election. He has been an elected reeve for eight years, with an additional eight years as a councillor and deputy reeve. He is a past warden of Victoria County and has served as chairman of every major county committee. Murray has been actively involved in his own marine and resort business for 25 years, and says this has created a strong feeling toward small business persons, as well as tourism needs.

In a press release announcing his intention to seek the nomination, Murray said: "It is a significant concern to me that the riding needs are properly addressed. Our agricultural community must be protected, and our towns and villages deserve every benefit going, to allow them to keep up with the rapidly changing times, and I am prepared to accomplish that task."

Board of Education briefs...

Semestering at high school

At least two members of the Haliburton County Board of Education will sit on a committee to investigate the possibility of semestering Haliburton Highlands Secondary School. The trustees will join a number of teachers, principal Dale Robinson and director of education Stuart Baker in a study of the effects of full or partial semestering.

The director told trustees last Tuesday that under a semestered system, students would complete a particular course in half the school year, with 70 minute rather than 40 minute periods. Partial semestering would enable some courses to be completed in half a year, while others would be spread out over a full school year.

Once the study has been completed, the committee will bring its findings back to the board. Baker emphasized that the study may reveal that the present system should remain unchanged.

Teachers' aides

Teachers' aides will be provided for three hours a day if a Kindergarten class has between 25 and 29 students, the board of education has decided. If a Kindergarten class has at least 30 students, an aide will be hired to work five hours a day.

The support service will begin this month. Enrolments will be reviewed in September and January to determine if class sizes meet the board's criteria.

Bus lights

Ontario's Ministry of Transportation and Communications has implemented new rules governing the operation of school buses for uses other than transporting students to and from classes.

From now on, bus drivers will be required to use flashing lights and swing arm stop signs when discharging people on any outing at any time of the year. Drivers of other vehicles will be required to observe laws that prohibit passing stopped school buses when flashing lights are in use.

Brick repairs

Repairs to the brick walls of J. Douglas Hodgson Elementary School have cost $5000 more than the board anticipated when it authorized the work, which was carried out during the summer. Business administrator Stan Baker told trustees on Tuesday that the final bill for the repairs was $22,800.

Board staff were given a verbal estimate of $15,000 for the work when the architect who designed the building examined the deteriorating brick earlier this year. The estimate was not a firm quotation, and was based on replacing 2000 bricks. But when repairs were undertaken, the contractor found it necessary to replace some 3000 bricks, accounting for the higher than estimated cost of the work, Baker said.

Sewage line damage

Trustees have agreed that the board should be responsible for up to half the cost of repairs to a sewage force main which runs over board property in the area of Haliburton Highlands Secondary School.

The line became blocked earlier this year at a point where it comes nearest to the high school's tennis courts. Excavation revealed a number of large boulders covering the line at that point, and it was suggested in discussions between the board and the municipality that the boulders may have come from fill material that was used to construct a base for the tennis courts. Although no fault could be established, the municipality sent the board a bill of $3,589.96, representing the full cost of repairing the blockage.

Trustee Paul Wilson, a professional engineer who examined the excavation and repairs, said it is "very difficult to determine from an engineering standpoint what caused the blockage in that line." He said the municipality believes the tennis court fill was responsible, and wants the board to pay the entire repair cost.

Following discussion of the matter, the board agreed to give Wilson the authority to negotiate with the municipality to reach a suitable cost sharing agreement.

Flooding at Victoria Street

The municipality of Dysart et al has told Victoria Street School principal Ruth Gorrie that it cannot be responsible for beaver dams which might overflow and flood a portion of the school yard.

In a letter to Gorrie, a copy of which was sent to the board of education, municipal officials said the board and its staff will have to deal with the matter, since Dysart has no direct responsibility for the dams, which are on private property.

Trustee PaulWilson said his survey firm was hired by the municipality to locate the ponds and determine who owns the flooded property. The municipality then consulted its solicitor, who sent letters to the owners.

Wilson said there is a possibility that the dams may overflow as they have in the past, but added that he did not think water would cause a flash flood.

"In my opinion, there's no problem as far as danger is concerned," Wilson said.

He added that he felt the board should support the Victoria Street principal in steps she has taken to ensure that youngsters do not play in the area of the creek at the foot of the school yard.

School of Fine Arts has best summer

The past summer was the most successful in the 17 year history of the Haliburton School of Fine Arts, the board of governors of Sir Sandford Fleming College has been told.

In a memorandum to the board's academic and student affairs committee, Frost campus principal Gary Cronkwright said the summer of 1984 "saw the largest increase in students in the history of the school, with 911 students attending, an increase of 186 over the summer of 1983."

Of the total, 677 attended credit courses while 234 were general interest students.

Just concerns

Concerns expressed by a number of Minden area residents over the Rural and Native Housing program that has provided three new homes for low income families in the village appear to be justified, based on information that was provided by program officials at a public meeting last Thursday night.

Purpose of the program is to provide low income families with an opportunity to own a home when otherwise they could have no reasonable expectation of doing so. Recipients of the homes pay for them with a 25 year mortgage subsidized by taxpayers. Payments are supposed to equal 25 percent of gross income established according to a formula that takes a number of factors into account, including the number of children in the family and whether or not both parents work. The trouble with this is that what is "low income" in Toronto may not be "low income" in Haliburton, although the program does not take regional differences in cost of living into account. As a result, the program may provide subsidized housing to people whose incomes are in fact higher than those of hundreds of local citizens who have built homes, raised families and contributed to community life without any direct help from government give-aways.

A second problem with the program is that the "modest" houses it provides may be far less modest than the homes that many other people have made personal sacrifices to own.

Finally, there is the matter of whether the program should provide new houses in a village like Minden or purchase and renovate existing housing stock. There are convincing arguments for both alternatives.

While it seems clear that the program does play an important role in some areas, local citizens who view it with skepticism have every right to do so.

Revitalizing an industry

Drive down just about any back road in Haliburton County and you'll see hints of an earlier era, when farming was second only to logging and lumbering as the mainstay of the local economy. Fields that were cleared with axes, saws, horses and oxen have long since been abandoned, reclaimed by scrub bush and weeds, the cedar rail fences that marked their boundaries now weathered and crumbling. Except for a small number of family and hobby farms that provide what is at best only a subsistence income, agriculture has all but disappeared from Haliburton County.

A small but determined group of area residents have not given up hope of an agricultural resurgence, however. Several years ago, they organized themselves into the Haliburton County Farmers Association, and began sharing ideas for revitalizing the agricultural sector of the local economy. They have made the slow but measurable progress toward that aim, though as in any such endeavour, their reach has always exceeded their grasp.

The latest example of the association's efforts is a study drafted by Ernie Hills of Kinmount. It contains some optimistic but perhaps not altogether impossible suggestions for enhancing agricultural opportunities and incomes within the county. Chief among these is the establishment of an agricultural land registry that could bring working farmers and owners of unused land together. If the registry system can be made to work, many of the fields that once sustained pioneer families might be brought back into use as pasture or crop land.

It won't bring obvious changes overnight, and it won't give a significant boost to anyone's income, but the land registry system proposed by Hills may, in the long term, help make farming in Haliburton County just a little more viable. And if it can do that, it will serve a useful purpose indeed.

Letters to the Editor

A matter of individual conviction

To The Editor:

I am concerned and not a little disturbed by the report of the decision by the County council to recommend the reinstatement of the death penalty and to communicate this decision to various federal authorities. I can only respond to your report as it is, not to the whole discussion of which I have no knowledge since I was not present, but the assumptions which appear to have been made in the course of the decision-making seem invalid and ill-founded.

Of course we deplore the killing of the policemen whose deaths have sparked this latest move towards the judicial killing of those responsible. There is however, no evidence that the reimposition of the death penalty would affect the safety of the police in their work, or reduce the total number of murders. Many other measures which might ensure the protection of police and public are being, and need to be, considered and implemented. Those who recognized that this issue is one which must allow for general and individual input through some kind of referendum process were quite right and I am sorry that other members of council did not listen to them and respond. The statement by Stanhope Reeve Harry Davis that "up to 85% of Canadians are thought to be in favour of capital punishment" is just meaningless nonsense. What does 'up to' mean, and what does 'thought to be' mean?

It seems odd to me that the County council would be prepared to make a motion in this area of concern when it is so obviously a matter of great difference of opinion and conviction. I would like to make it clear that they certainly do not speak for me, nor will they speak for many others in this area.

Yours sincerely,
Fred Elson

To The Editor:

I would like to thank the members of the Guild of Fine Arts who were involved with the selection of my essay on "The value of Art in Haliburton County". I was delighted to win the three day "Collage" workshop conducted by Marilyn Brooks at the 10th Annual Canadian Crafts Council conference. My special thanks to Sandlewood Gifts of Minden who donated the prize.

It was a privilege to be with the 25 interesting and talented people -- such as teachers and students from as far away as Newfoundland and Calgary.

Marilyn covered various aspects of fashion, design and marketing. She demonstrated how craftspeople can use their talents in the fashion market. She brought a wealth of knowledge and sense of humour which was most stimulating to everyone. She also brought "scraps" left over from her own dresses and coats; and in less than 2½ days many of the ladies created dresses, jackets, and even afterski boots -- all from the "scraps". The exchange of ideas was priceless.

The climax of the workshop was a fashion show with everyone taking part in some way. Marilyn had many of her fall fashions with her and we "accented" them with our own creations. Special mention should be made of Marta Vanderwal's dress, named "Dimensions". Her accomplishment of creating a beautiful gown with many 5" scraps was very interesting. Congatulations Marta!

One of the younger girls in the group said it was her "Thrill of a Lifetime". It sure was thrilling to me.

Thank you again, Haliburton Highlands Guild of Fine Arts.

Sincerely,
Shirley Hodgson

This coming Friday will be the beginning of the Thanksgiving weekend. If it runs in the same manner as other years the weekend should see hundreds of visitors travelling by car and bus to the Haliburton Highlands to take a look at the leaves in their glorious colours. We believe that the leaves should be at their best or at their peak this weekend so you won't want to miss seeing them. Many this weekend will be taking the opportunity to lock up their cottage until next year, while others will be coming back to the Highlands to visit friends and relatives. Whether this is your first visit or just one of many to the beautiful Highlands of Haliburton we sincerely hope that we will have nice weather for this occasion.

The time is fast approaching when the baseball fans can start to think of the World Series. Before this happens we will be watching the league play-offs. People who don't usually follow baseball during the regular season turn into what you might call baseball addicts at World Series time. There is always something about the World Series that is appealing to a great many people and this year should be no exception as the competition should prove to very keen. As far as I am concerned one of the biggest disappointments of the year had to be the Montreal Expos who dropped off very badly and were never a threat to take over first place. The Toronto Blue Jays of the American League had their best season yet but it just wasn't good enough as the Detroit Tigers got off to the fastest start in the league's history when they won 35 of the first 40 games. The Tigers never looked back and were never out of first place all season. If it had been a normal season and let's say that Detroit were just an average team the Blue Jays would have ended up in first place. The Jays are hitting their peak with a young team and it they are ever going to make that move to the top they are going to have to do it in 1985. At this time it's very hard to say just who will be in the World Series let alone call a winner. Personally I am pulling for those amazing Chicago Cubs who haven't been in a World Series since 1939. It could be Chicago and the Detroit Tigers for all the marbles.

These next few lines of humour are enough to keep those who are afraid of flying at home with their feet glued to the ground. The story goes that a pilot on one of the major airlines would wait until the going got bumpy, then he would stroll through the cabin with a book under his arm. The title, which he kept prominently displayed, was "How to Fly in 20 Lessons".

We could be in for an early winter. Just the other day a friend of mine who has a cottage on Haliburton Lake was telling me that he was driving in to Haliburton last Wednesday morning and believe it or not it was snowing from the time he left Fort Irwin until he came to the road that goes into Redstone. Don't get me wrong, the road wasn't covered with snow but it was still snowing.

It would be nice to see the business places in both Minden and Haliburton get together and pick out a day that is agreeable for everyone concerned on when they are going to close. Some places are closed on Wednesdays while others are not. It would appear to me that the proper day to take off would be Monday instead of the traditional Wednesdays. By closing on Mondays it would mean that the management and staff could enjoy a good long weekend and if they wanted to go away it would give them an extra day.

A few months ago Mr. and Mrs. Allan Bagg, Mr. and Mrs. Ken Langdon and Mr. and Mrs. Vince Connaughan were the Haliburton Rotary Club's representatives to Peru. At a recent meeting of the Rotary Club held at the United Church Ken Langdon put on a slide presentation of the trip.

We learned this week that the registration for cubs, beavers and scouts in Haliburton has been completed. Twenty have signed up for Beavers, 21 for cubs and three for scouts. Ian Douglas and Doug McNichol will be in charge of the cubs, Todd Fyfe and Jamie Bain will look after the scouts, while Sherry Morrison, Shirley Jean Baker and Mrs. Cooney will lead the Beavers. All three groups meet at the Drag River building with the beavers on Thursdays, cubs on Tuesdays, and the scouts' night is yet to be confirmed. For any of you who may have some time on your hands we would like to inform you that the scouts are still looking for a leader.

In conversation with Mrs. George Nicholls of West Guilford one day last week, I was asking her about her two hockey playing sons, Bernie and Dave. She told me that Bernie is having a great training camp with the Los Angeles Kings and he should be in top condition for the opening of the National Hockey League season. Dave, who had a tryout with New Haven of the American Hockey League, failed to make the team due to the many players in camp. He caught on with the Orillia Junior club and will be playing his hockey there this season. We wish them both the best of luck.

The Haliburton Junior Huskies hockey team was formed in 1965 and ever since that time the Huskies have iced a team each year up until now. This year the team will not be in operation due to the lack of players needed to form a contender.

We thought that this would be a good time to refresh your memory and go back to the 1965-66 season and show this photo of the players who made up the team in that particular year. Report from Parliament

By Bill Scott M.P.

The first steps the new government has taken, I believe, show that we are really serious about reducing government spending. On September 21, it was announced that the Sports-Select Pool would be ended. If you recall, in 1979 a Progressive Conservative government made an agreement with the provinces that the federal government would get out and stay out of the lottery business. The Liberals resurrected the concept and broke that agreement, despite the objections of the provinces. This pool never had a jackpot winner and yet it consistently lost money. Now its losses will be written off, and we will reach a new agreement with the provinces that is acceptable to both parties.

Also, on September 21, the Canadian Unity Information Office was disbanded. This program, under the control of the Minister of Justice, had been used mainly as a propaganda tool for the party in power. It used Canadians' national pride in the country as a reason for praising the work of government ministers and distributing largely political material across the country. There will be no useful void created by its disappearance, only a cost saving.

Further, a temporary government spending freeze has been instituted. As stated by the Hon. Robert DeCotret, Treasury Board President, "These measures will slow down the rate of expenditures and allow the government both the time and the flexibility to implement its priorities."

Question

By CATHERIN DENHOLM

Is seventy a lot older than sixty-nine?

Do you remember way back when you turned 20? There was a wonderful feeling - not necessarily justified - that you were independent, had a sort of plan for your life and you were confident that you could handle most situations.

At the other end of the scale turning 70 is exactly the reverse process; the feeling is not wonderful. Inside somewhere is the sketchy feeling - not necessarily justified - that one may lose some independence sometime soon. Life may not go according to plan and there is a slight shaking of confidence.

Most people do exactly the same things through the days after 70 as before. No shocking mental or physical alteration takes place on that birthday. Could this all come from the effect of that old three-score years and ten biblical age limit?

Just as 20 is a time of lifting one's head, straightening shoulders and walking with a lilt, the sound of that three-score and ten in one's mind can make that person take a long careful look at the equipment one lives within, checking the signs of age - every wrinkle, blemish and bulge to see if it will last another five or ten or more years.

Someone who had just turned 70 remarked that before 70 he thought he looked younger than most 60 year olds but after 70 he thinks he looks older thatn everybody.

The age of 70 may change people's perception of themselves. While physical changes have been taking place gradually over the years the age of 70 is a mental hurdle that takes a few days or weeks to clear.

Morley Callaghan at his 80th birthday celebration recently said that people want to live to be 80 but no one likes being 80. That's probably it - we want to live a long time without growing old.

"something for everybody". The instrumental and vocal presentation will include pop, modern, experimental, and African style music. Although the individual artists will be featured, it will be a real team effort. Since it will be a Saturday evening (November 3), at the High School, persons of all ages will be able to attend. They will be delighted that they did.

The HELP A VILLAGE EFFORT (H.A.V.E.) Committee is particularly pleased to sponsor this second Haliburton Artist Variety Evening. As students at the High School, Cathy and Dick were especially well known for their brilliant performances in Mr. Bill Gliddon's Gilbert and Sullivan presentations. They are now accomplished artists who are making a name for themselves in the musical world. Residents of our county can look forward to an outstanding musical concert when Cathy, Dick, and their associates combine their artistic skills with some of the finest musicians of our area.

All the artists are donating their services. Instead of an admission charge a free-will donation will be received during the evening. All the proceeds of the Haliburton Artists Variety Evening will go to the self-help projects as set up by Haliburton's H.A.V.E. Committee to assist the poorest of the poor in third world countries to help themselves.

To The Editor:

Victims of Violence organization, from its beginnings, have as one of our goals, a National Referendum on Capital Punishment for all persons convicted of first degree murder. With the recent murders of three Metropolitan Toronto area police officers, the Police departments and the public are calling for the reinstatement of the death penalty. Prime Minister Brian Mulroney stated he would be willing to have a free vote in Parliament. We feel on such an important issue as this, it should be put to the public. We do not believe that a free vote in Parliament is a true democratic process and do not think that any one person should be allowed to vote for another person, whether it be an elected member of Parliament or not. The politicians will vote according to their conscience or party line. How can they decide which way their constituents will vote on this issue? Some constituents will vote yes, some will vote no. Which way will the members of Parliament vote to represent the public's wishes?

We believe every citizen has the right to vote on this very important issue. Let's have a national referendum. Let the people of Canada decide.

Sir Sandford Fleming College

In a report from the Academic and Student Affairs Committee, Board of Governors of Sir Sandford Fleming College, Gary Cronkwright reports that the Haliburton School of Fine Arts recently completed its 17th successful season offering six weeks of arts and crafts courses. This summer saw the largest increase in students in the history of the school with 911 students attending credit courses and 234 general interest students. The largest area of increase was in textiles (weaving, knitting, sewing and fashion related courses) with 218 students registered. Also drawing and painting courses continued to grow with a registration of 208.

People come to the Haliburton School of Fine Arts from across Ontario; the largest percentage being from the Golden Horseshoe Area, however the number of students from outside the province, namely Quebec, is growing.

The fact that the school continues to grow no doubt is related to the high calibre of faculty which the school cojntinues to attract. The reputation not only of the quality of instruction but of the exciting and friendly atmosphere, continue to spread. The Haliburton School of Fine Arts is now the largest craft/art summer school in Ontario, says Cronkwright.

Redmen teams beat Brock, now 2 and 1 on the season

Haliburton high school's Redmen football teams are now two and one for the season after gaining their second successive victories on Friday.

Playing at home for the first time this year, the Redmen got loud and enthusiastic support from their fellow students and a substantial number of local residents who were on hand to take in the action.

In the senior contest, the Redmen edged out the Brock high school Bulldogs on the strength of two point and one point safety touches, while in the Junior match, Haliburton ran for two touchdowns while holding their opponents to a single unconverted major.

A close contest

Aggressive defense made the difference in the senior match, as both teams were unable to generate a sustained offense and produce touchdowns.

Haliburton held Brock in their own end in the first series following the kickoff, and maintained good field position on their first possession, forcing Brock back to their own three yard line on a third down punt. The Bulldogs were unable to advance very far upfield, and on a third and seven situation, opted to kick. A solid rush by the Redmen defenders resulted in a miscue by the Brock punter, who was tackled in his own endzone for a two point safety.

Defensive play also played a key role in the second quarter, when Mike Blake recovered a Brock fumble to end the visiting team's best drive on the Redmen 25 yard line.

The score remained 2-0 in Haliburton's favour at the half.

The third quarter produced no scoring for either side, as both offensive squads were unable to generate any sustained drives.

The Redmen's best offensive series came in the fourth quarter as Jeff Bain, Mike MacNaull and Rob McLeod carried the ball for four first downs, aided by the blocking of guards Craig Burk and Sean Allore. The Redmen capped the drive with a kick by Alex Little from Brock's 25 yard line that produced a single point.

Final score was 3-0 for the Redmen.

Haliburton got good defensive efforts from Terry Hobden, Mike Blake, Peter Allore and Wade Woodward.

Juniors dominate

The Junior Redmen struck quickly in the afternoon's second game. Early in the first quarter, Andrew Burk intercepted a second down passing attempt by Brock and ran the ball to the six yard line before he was brought down. With first down and goal to go, Craig Crowe carried the ball in for a touchdown. Jaro Cooper's convert attempt was good and Haliburton led 7-0.

Haliburton dominated play in the second quarter, and the effort paid off with a second touchdown. Haliburton recovered a Brock fumble and four plays later, Andrew Burk scored another touchdown from 28 yards out. The convert was missed, leaving Haliburton with a 13-0 lead at the half.

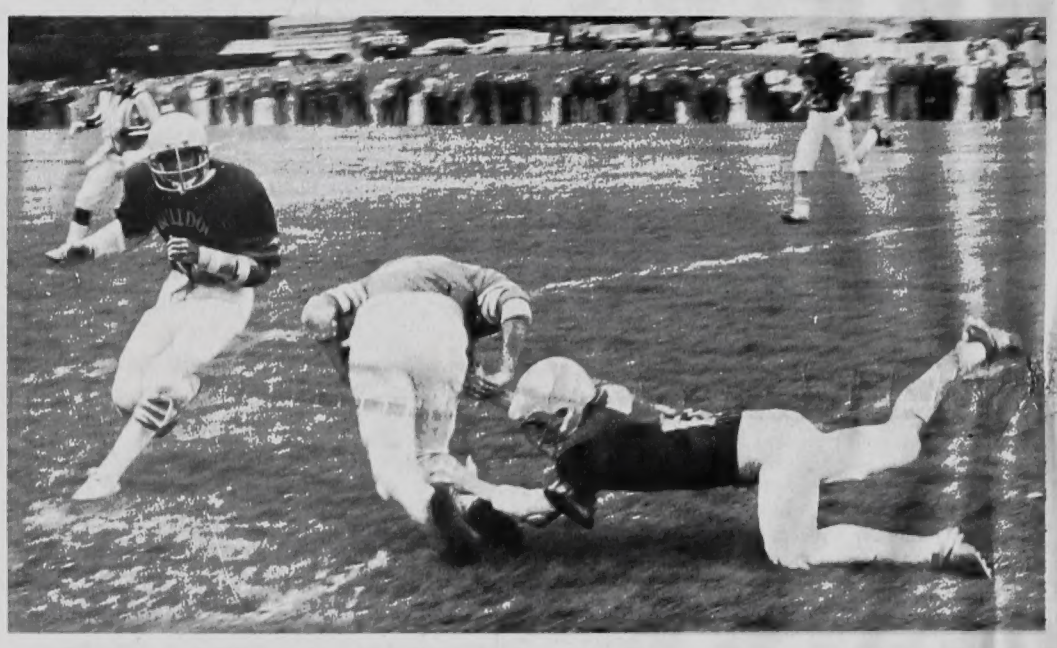
Both teams generated offensive yardage in the second half of play, but the Redmen defenders held Brock off the board until the final minute of play when Brock scored an unconverted touchdown to make the final score 13-6 in Haliburton's favour.

Defensively, the Junior Redmen got notable games from Craig Crowe, Allan Rydman and Kevin Barnhart, while on offense Drew Mitchell, Andrew Burk and Crowe ground out an effective running attack.

This Friday Haliburton will host Lindsay Collegiate. Game time is 2 p.m. If the Redmen win, both teams have a good chance of gaining home field advantage for the opening game of the playoffs.

Juniors rush for two touchdowns in first half

Pileups were the order of the day last Friday as the Haliburton Redmen football teams took on Brock high school in a home game before a large and enthusiastic crowd. The Senior team played to a 3-0 win, while the Juniors earned a 13-6 victory, giving them each a two and one record.



A Brock Bulldog player puts a shoestring tackle on a Haliburton Redmen ball carrier during first half action at HHSS last Friday afternoon. Both Haliburton teams were winners.

Trent Severn News

Thanksgiving Weekend is fast approaching bringing with it the end of the navigation season on October 10. This will, therefore, be the last newsletter until next spring.

Until recently the 1984 open water season has been wetter than normal, and the lakes have only now come back to being close to the normal percentage of storage, having been higher than the 10-year average since May 24. On September 24 the lakes averaged just 2% above normal for the time of year at 51.4%. Last year the average was only 39% at that time.

With the Kawartha Lakes close to mid-range and the Otonabee River having near average flows for September, the situation is as normal as it ever gets.

Further stoplog changes will be necessary until after Thanksgiving to complete the early drawdown of lakes containing lake trout, to refill Twelve Mile and Horseshoe Lakes, and to get the Haliburton lakes set for winter. Reduced staff will be occupied marking snow courses, performing maintenance functions and continuing water control operations on some of the major lakes until winter conditions arrive. Snow will then be accumulating to refill the lakes for the 1985 season.

On a warmer note, Parks Canada will be celebrating the National Parks Centennial and 100 years of heritage conservation next year with many special events planned across the country.

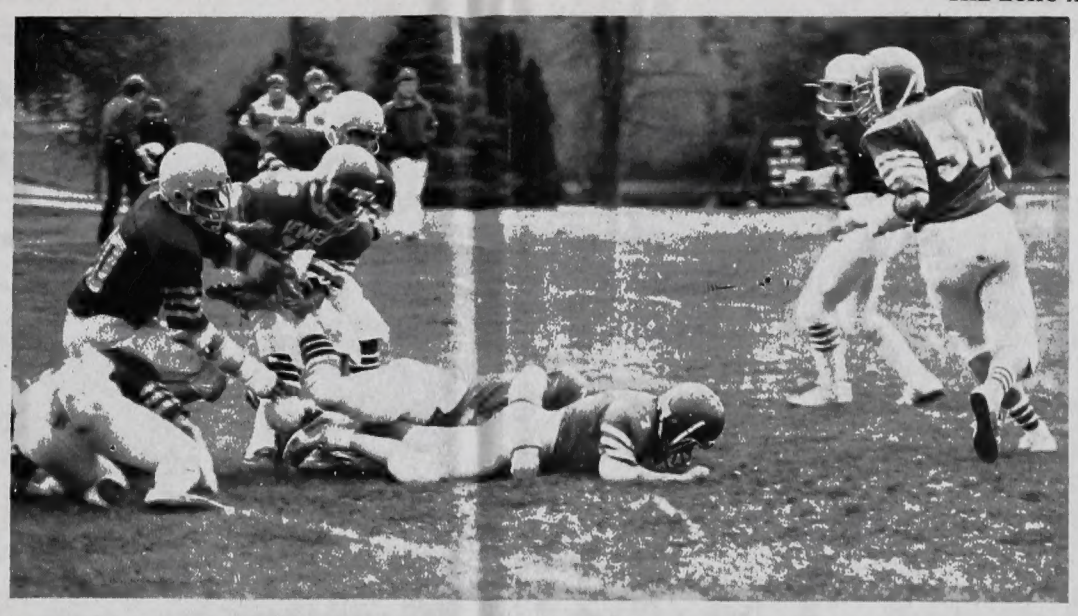
The Trent-Severn Waterway and its co-operating association, the Friends of the Trent-Severn Waterway, will soon be promoting Centennial events to clubs and organizations in cities and towns throughout central Ontario. It is an opportunity for the public to become involved, whether it be in events such as Swim the Waterway, Jog the Waterway, or by reading about their own community's plans in our Centennial Calendar of Events.

1985 will be an exciting year, not only for Parks Canada, but for the Trent-Severn Waterway, employees of the Trent-Severn Waterway and all Canadians.

OMHA honour award presented

Minor Hockey's top award, the OMHA Honour Award, for outstanding service to minor hockey, was presented Saturday to Ronald McKnight of Acton, Ontario. The announcement and presentation of the award to McKnight was made at the luncheon following the 51st annual meeting of the Ontario Minor Hockey Association. McKnight, long associated with minor hockey in Acton, becomes the 37th winner of the award.

The last ten previous winners were Alex Brown, Whitby, Hugh Hall, Plattsville, James Hamilton, Burlington, Glen Ure, Ridgetown, Sam Brereton, Newcastle, Frank Simpson, Brighton, Lorne Spicer, Shedden, Al Shaw, Windsor, Albert Schram, Dunnville, George Bibby, Campbellford.



Somewhere in this scramble is a Redmen ball carrier who has been tackled by a member of the Brock Bulldogs team. The action took place last Friday during the Redmen's first home game of the season.

exploded during the summer. Sometime in July, vandals, as yet unapprehended, walked onto local resident Jane Topping's property and dynamited a network of beaver dams impounding what's known as the Glen Elbe wetland.

The issue goes back a number of years and has deeply divided residents of Elizabethtown Township in eastern Ontario. Jane has voiced the local oppositiion to the proposed Glen Elbe drain because it would sacrifice her wetland and threaten downstream water quality for no clear overall agricultural gain. Her fears are widely shared by the expert opinion and research of Environment Canada, the Ontario Ministry of Natural Resources and the Cataraqui Conservation Authority. Each agency has a representative on the technical committee which approves drainage proposals for the 2/3 federal-provincial subsidy that has been available in eastern Ontario. With the committee deadlocked for over a year and the drainage engineer's bill rising with each new report produced in a lame attempt to answer the committee's concerns, the patience of some drain proponents apparently gave out. They decided to take the law into their own hands and eliminate what has appeared as the number one pie and coffee topped off the meal.

New social convenors Jean Fleming and Barb Nichols did a great job, ably assisted by Hilda Sealey, getting her legs in condition for curling by running up and down the stairs with heaping platters of hamburgers.

Ed Picard kept the group entertained with old time hits played on his accordion.

Alberta Maitland from Minden thanked the Haliburton club for a great day.

Sherborne minutes

A regular session of the council of Sherborne, McClintock, Livingstone, Lawrence and Nightingale Townships was held September 10 and the following matters were considered:

Murray McEachern attended at council to discuss the Theyers property along County Road #8 in respect to the original road allowance along the lakeshore of said parcel of land. The clerk was directed to draft a resolution to be approved by council before the end of the meeting.

Road Superintendent, Delbert Page reported to council for the month.

Road Voucher No. 8 was paid in the amount of $9,309.09.

Tenders submitted for work projects under the Roads Dept. were discussed.

Council accepted the tender submitted by J.D. MacKay Construction dated September 6, 1984 in the amount of $1,680 to stump approximately 1 1/4 acres of land South Kawagama Lake Road. This land to be developed for the new year for Roads Department.

Page was asked to make calls in respect to tender submitted for work at Buck's Bay and report back to council. In the meantime the clerk had a draft resolution prepared in respect to the Theyers property.

It was resolved that in the event that a conveyance is required for the shore road providing that the executors of the Estate of Allan McEachern (namely Don Finn and Murray McEachern) are agreeable; council authorized same.

Page reported back to council at this time indicating that the interpretation of questionable tender was correct and no changes were to be made.

Council accepted the tender submitted by Lorne E. Greenaway dated September 7, 1984 in the amount of $1,980 to grub the Buck's Bay by-pass on the Fletcher Lake Road.

A verbal concern through the clerk's office was submitted by Charles Corbett of Oxtongue Lake in respect to oiling of roads. The clerk was directed to inform Corbett that in the year 1985 the Roads Dept. has been asked to arrange for oiling of roads in advance of July 1 holiday weekend, weather permitting.

The Adventures of Potato Patty and Cranberry Gin

I do believe I'm getting tired of my garden. I definitely shouldn't be left loose with a seed catalogue. After another quick trip to Eagle Lake for the bare essentials, it dawned on me that I have not been to the village of Haliburton in a month. It's all on account of the garden.

Last week, for instance, it was cranberries and potatoes. It's going to be a hard winter, if the extent of the berry crops has anything to do with it. We've never picked quite so many cranberries. We didn't even get up-river, for all those berries we've been watching all summer. The high-bushes were sagging to the ground with the clusters of berries nearly bursting with juice. A lot of them burst in my grandson's fist while he was "helping Nana".

I enjoy picking berries. It's relaxing. One can contemplate the clouds, the flocking birds, daydream, trip over twigs, pick up the spilt berries, have deep, meaningless conversations with your fellow-pickers, fall in woodchuck holes, pick up the berries, and before you know it, you've got three bushels (I'm not exaggerating) of the things. We were very proud of ourselves too, until we realized the enormity of what we had done.

We had great plans, my neighbour and I. My cranapple jam was all gone. And the price of cranberry juice is right out of a high priced jewellery shoppe. My friend had a juicer. We were in business.

The first thing you notice about cranberries, is the vibrant shade of red they come in. Until last week, however, I had never seriously considered redecorating my kitchen in them. Judy's electric juicer is old. We had to glue it back together, and we soon decided it was missing a somewhat vital part. Mount St. Helena had erupted, spitting cranberry pips, and the juice was oozing in a lava-like manner onto the kitchen counter and down to the cupboards below. It was not one of your more efficient electric time-saving gismos. And with no instruction sheet, I'm embarrassed to tell you how long it took us to muddle through two bushels. But an hour after starting, it became abundantly clear that we would not be making any jam that day. So we juiced them, and froze it in gallon jugs for future reference. There are five gallons of the stuff in my freezer. Judy took a bucket-full of berries and her juicer with her to visit her folks. (They're gonna love her). And I gave the other bucket and a half to a friend with a better gismo, who promptly juiced all his berries in two hours. Yesterday, he presented me with a jar of cranapple jelly. The show-off!

That was Monday. The rest of the week, I was deeply engrossed, and in dirt in the potato patches. Plural, as in four of them. There will be no potato famine on the Tonarosa homestead this year. With the exception of Friday, when my body refused to function, I have dug, and washed, and stored about four bushels of spuds a day. Guess what you're getting for Christmas, children! We are going to be eating potato pancakes, potato bread, potato dumplings, and sheppard's pie with vichyssoise well into next summer. When I think back, it only took me a few short hours one fine spring day to do this to myself. There are still four more rows of late potatoes out there waiting. And when we sit down to our Thanksgiving dinner, I hope I'll be saying "Thank God the garden's done."

I've got to go peel some potatoes for dinner.

This triptych is one of a number of pieces created by some of Canada's top artisans now on display at the Rails' End Gallery in Haliburton. The show is an adjunct to the recent Canadian Crafts Council conference. It will be on display until mid October.

Apparently our blazing red maples are quite a rare phenomenon. Just a few places around the world have this glory, such as parts of Siberia and Japan, and of course, the Haliburton Highlands.

Another rare phenomenon must surely be the way the county can pull together, and a warm vote of thanks is well deserved to everyone. Municipalities and townspeople, businessmen and crafts people, administrators and workers, young and old, all worked together to provide a well-organized and professional environment for the recent tenth annual Canadian Craft Council Conference, with over two hundred visitors from across Canada. The conference was hosted by Sir Sandford Fleming College, Haliburton Highlands Guild of Fine Arts and the Ontario Crafts Council.

What were they all here for? The Arts and Crafts have always occupied an ambivalent position in society. Because of the time involved in producing handmade goods, a network of some sort of support has generally been needed. Looking back, there has always been a type of sponsor for the craftsperson, be it Church, the wealthy family or merchant and/or the Court. It's a long way forward from those distant times to the 21st century but the craft conference addressed itself to the future: the needs of the craftsperson in the year 2000, educationally, financially and in terms of the present rapid technological development.

Technological impact was demonstrated by William C.G. Hodge, distinguished tapestry artist from the Ontario College of Art, who showed the assembly that a computer can now be used while a weaver is working out the alternatives in design which he is creating. The computer will save him weeks (and sometimes months if it an intricate design) of weaving the actual samples. The weaver can see in an hour or less, which ideas are worth developing further. Also when the final design is chosen, a computer can be connected to a Dobby loom to direct the assembly.

This was but one aspect of the way that

Dear reader, by the time this letter reaches you we will be in the month of October. How the weeks and months roll around. Please all try and stay sober.

Quite a lot of relatives came on this September 23 day. We were glad to have Henry and Muriel Cox who were our neighbours where we lived down in Glenarm way.

Teddy Carr spent the weekend with his family.

We have Edna Cowan back with us, we're all glad to see. Edna and her room mate Lily Hogg have company galore. Some came to call who hadn't been here before.

Sunday night we were pleased to have the Thompsons here, Ruth to play the music, lead the singing, and Harold to read the lesson and offer prayer. Then Rev. Burgess always has an interesting message and takes over from there.

We have Marjory Schuyler back from hospital. But we hear them say she has to return to hospital, probably right away.

Monday September 24 we had our first auxiliary meeting with a lovely pot luck dinner. After a two month holiday not all members attended. Some are still away. Our president, Aileen Blears is resigning at the end of '84. She won't be president at our meeting any more. We're sorry to lose you Aileen, the job you did was fine, always trying to keep everyone in line. The Hyland Crest auxiliary through the years, months and days, help out here financially in many different ways.

Rev. John Phillips of the Haliburton Anglican Church brought us a very interesting message this September 25 day. We thank you both for coming. We would to say that Fred Ballard came, the music to play.

Congratulations to Mary Oliver who is 95 this September day. She is still quite active and still sometimes quite gay. We are glad she is fine for her family is taking her out to dine.

Tuesday night was music night. It was Fred Ballard's time. Fred plays organ music which is really fine. Movies Doris showed us this 21st September day were interesting we would like to say.

They have put new name plates on our room doors, so callers should not have any trouble at all finding where we live when they come to technology will influence the craftsperson of the future. It undoubtedly highlighted the need for different strategies in craft education, which was a point addressed by Dr. Charles Pascal, President, Sir Sandford Fleming College, when speaking to the distinguished delegates from the fields of craft education, technology and the arts.

Certainly, we are all affected by the rapid advance of technology, whether it be at the bank, supermarket or at our own place of business, and these deliberations were most timely. None of us wants to lose the pleasure and satisfaction of finding the beautifully handcrafted gift for family and friends and the delight of using it as a special treat for ourselves. And those who have creative children are naturally very interested in the opportunities their children will have, in the future, to develop their unique talents.

'Funding' was addressed by the conference, as an ongoing subject for the craftsperson. Upon graduation, kilns, looms, tools and materials such as clays, wools, woods and paint and paper must be purchased at once, by the young artist, craftsperson, regardless of his uncertain market.

He is often self-employed and needs premises. Sometimes he is able to join a small co-operative group for this. Craftsmen sometimes work in a related job such as teaching and thereby cut down their production and the creating of new forms, as they struggle to create in their 'spare time'. The craftsperson depends upon an outlet, retail or wholesale, to display his goods, either trade fairs, exhibitions, gallery shows, local merchants, public or private commissions and/or sponsors.

In keeping with old traditions, the Bronfman family offers an annual award for excellence in crafts ($20,000), presented at the Canadian Craft Council Conference and this year it was won by William Hazzard of Regina. The Bronfman Award is Canada's highest award for craftspeople. Craftsmen in every region of Canada have received encouragement and support from Jeam A. Chalmers. On her August birthday, Mrs. Chalmers was 85 years old, and marked the occasion by commissioning a selection of 14 works from nominees for the Bronfman Award from Ontario, to be known as the Bicentennial Collection. It is presently on display at the Rails' End Gallery, Haliburton and will go on a tour of Ontario after October 20. There are samples of earlier works at the gallery from these craftspeople to provide an interesting retrospective.

At the conference it was announced that Floyd S. Chalmers has donated a $500,000 gift from the family to be called the Jean A. Chalmers Fund. It will be used to provide funds "for projects in the crafts", and administered through the Canadian Council for Crafts. Financial support will continue to come from three levels of government, as well as business, industry and townspeople.

Many seminars at the conference and the excellent Marilyn Brooks workshop directed craftspeople towards ideas which would give them marketing skills, promotional skills, expertise in the field of public relations and in the art of combining their craft skills with 'high tech'. It was concluded that these and other skills should be part of an ongoing educational process for the craftsperson if he is to successfully survive in the year 2000.

Walter Pitman, executive director, Ontario Arts Council, gave an address towards the end of the conference (apparently he has developed a keen interest in crafts through his wife, who is an enthusiastic weaver). He drew our attention to the large part that crafts played in our pioneering days when we were all dependent upon the craftsman for our daily needs. Now, after the industrial revolution, it is the craftsperson who supplies some of our greatest pleasure as we view the well crafted object in our homes.

This powerful wood carving is one of a number of top quality pieces in the Jean A. Chalmers bicentennial collection now on display at the Rails' End Gallery in Haliburton. The collection includes works by former winners of the Saidye Bronfman award for excellence in crafts. It was purchased by Mrs. Chalmers and donated to the Ontario Crafts Council. The show will continue through mid October at the gallery.

Home Support News

By DONNA BAILEY

Dr. Miriam Hutton, Professor of Social Work at the University of Manitoba, who was recently in our office to find out about our Home Support Services (see August 15 news) also expressed her personal view of housing for seniors from her experience in this field.

Housing for seniors in Winnipeg is a major project run by the Winnipeg Regional Housing Authority, funded by CMHC with the support of Provincial and Municipal governments and volunteer organizations. Special services are available but vary from unit to unit. For example one might have a restaurant where people are able to have inexpensive meals served to them by people who are in a rehabilitation training program. Another type offers a day care program where people can come in. Some units have additional services such as attendants for the handicapped.

Ideally, Dr. Hutton would like to see a whole range of different kinds of housing for seniors. Everything from grandmother apartments in family homes to multiple units in new buildings. She thinks modifying existing houses in small towns and villages makes sense so that you keep people in touch with the community around them. She feels that seniors should be as close as possible to other age groups and that buildings should not be placed out of town. An organization for example, could buy houses available and remodel and/or modify them for senors. Modifications such as: handrails, washrooms on ground level, efficient furnaces or duplexes where seniors live in part and rent part should be employed. Maintenance could be co-ordinated from a central organization. Different people could be responsible for different aspects of maintenance. The benefit is that it would keep existing houses in better shape and keep seniors in the middle of the community and they could also walk to activities and be in closer contact with people. If maintenance was removed, seniors would have more energy to participate in common activities. She is not opposed to having senior citizen housing, we badly need it; but many seniors want to keep in close contact with people from other age groups.

The physical environment is much more important to people than is recognized. For example: attractive wood furnishings, plants, light painted walls are all important to our outlook. That was one of the reasons why Dr. Hutton was so impressed with our facilities. She felt it must give the seniors a real lift to come here.

We thank Dr. Hutton for taking the time to share with us information concerning Home Support Services in her province and her thoughts about senior housing. I, personally enjoyed the time we shared information very much and I hope that the next time she is here she will come into our Home Support office for a visit.

Did You Know?

By BAMBI GILDER

Did you know...that the Ministry of Community and Social Services offers two publications containing information and suggestions of use to parents of young children?

These guides discuss a number of problem areas such as night walking and disciplining. They contain information about how a child develops from infancy through the pre-school years, and how you can help your child's development.

Children sometimes seem to be incredibly clever at coming up with ways to frustrate, to anger, and to exhaust parents. A number of suggestions are included to help parents cope with trying times.

To obtain these publications free of charge, why not drop in to your County Information Centre or give us a call at 457-2733. Our office is open Monday through Friday, 10:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. and we are located in the Drag River Municipal Building (across from Emmerson Lumber).

Remember, if you have a problem, we can help by either providing the information you need or by quickly referring you to the proper resource.

THE HALIBURTON COUNTY ECHO AND MINDEN RECORDER

Gooderham News

By MARY HADLEY

On Wednesday, September 19 there was an exchange of 200 books at the Glamorgan Library.

Many new fiction and non-fiction books were received. In fiction there were detective, mystery, historical, romance, western, science fiction and adventure.

In the non-fiction was a beautifully illustrated book on B.C.'s Okanagan Valley; and the Kingfisher Guide to Horses and Ponies. Hans Kung's new book, "Eternal Life?" discusses life after death as a medical, philosophical and theological problem.

Weekend knitting projects by two ladies who formerly owned their own needlework business has many projects for large needles and heavy wool which can be done very quickly.

These are only a few of the interesting books which you can borrow at no charge at your local library.

The ladies' quilting club met in the basement of the Pentecostal Church last Wednesday. Eight ladies were busily engaged plying their needles on a pretty star quilt which Vivian Dovell had created for the boys' club. She also had made and decorated a carrot cake in honour of Priscilla Mintz's birthday. The ladies enjoyed a social time at the tea table as they extended birthday greetings.

Friends of Preston Scott were saddened last Monday when they learned of his untimely passing at the age of 66 years at the Ross Memorial Hospital in Lindsay.

Preston was born and grew up in this area, where he was much respected. He lived here until he entered the services. After his marriage he resided in Lindsay.

He is survived by his wife, the former Rosaline Hunter; a daughter, Karen; a sister, Wanda; two granddaughters and a grandson. A daughter, Cheryl, and a son, Michael, predeceased him.

Funeral services were held Thursday afternoon in Lindsay with interment at Lindsay Riverside Cemetery.

Sincere sympathy is extended to the bereaved family.

A very pretty double-ring wedding ceremony was solemnized in the United Church on Saturday, September 22 when Tammie, older daughter of Jim and Marie Dewey, exchanged wedding vows with Bruce Hyde of Guelph. Maurice Bradley, minister of the church, officiated.

The radiant bride entered the church on the arm of her father. She looked beautiful in her gown of white silk with a lacy ruffle at the bottom. Pearls and sequins trimmed the bodice. A veil and long train completed her ensemble.

Her sister, Melanie, in light pink with dark pink ruffle acted as maid of honour.

The three bridesmaids in dark pink with burgundy underskirts and ruffles were three friends, Jackie Simpson, Lynn Graham and Diane Noseworthy.

Supporting the groom as best man was his brother, Jamie Hyde. The ushers were Shawn Parkinson, Kenny Hyde (another brother) and Doug Edwards. The male attendants wore grey with the groom looking very distinguished in his top hat. Susan Haywood sang during the signing of the register accompanied by Marina Maughan at the piano.

The bridal party received their friends at the Community Centre. Here a roast beef dinner was served during which Earl MacDuff acted as master of ceremonies. The actractively-decorated wedding cake gracing the bride's table was made by the bride's mother. The wedding dance followed.

Amid a shower of confetti and good wishes the happy couple left for their honeymoon. They will reside in Guelph.

As they start off together on the "trail of happiness" may they always know fair skies and find new blessings and joys in every day.

Last Saturday the United Church was the scene of another pretty September wedding. The minister, Maurice Bradley, officiated at the double-ring ceremony when Verna Farewell and Kenneth Graham exchanged wedding vows.

The bride looked lovely in her off-white gown trimmed with purple and yellow applique and wearing a floppy hat as she entered the church on the arm of Bob Hunter. Marie Graham, sister of the groom, acted as matron of honour while her husband, Donald Graham, was best man.

Bridesmaids were Joan Trotter, Sharon Traviss and Margie Billings while the ushers were Alfred Trotter, Dennis Traviss and David Graham.

Jean Goff provided the wedding music.

The reception and cold plate dinner were held in the Community Centre. Music for the dance was supplied by the Burnt River Country band.

The groom's grandmother, who now lives with his mother, Pearl Graham, was unable to be present. After the ceremony in the church, the bridal party went to the home for the taking of pictures so that the grandmother, Mrs. Graham, could be included.

We congratulate the happy couple and extend best wishes for future health and happiness.

Elsie Domoney, accompanied by her mother, visited her sister, Eileen Charlton and her husband, Bob, at their Pine Lake cottage. A highlight of their visit was the celebration of Mrs. Domoney's 92nd birthday with a family dinner at the Pinestone.

Although she is recovering from a broken hand, sustained in a fall, she seemed to be in good health and spirits. Congratulations to this remarkable lady and best wishes for the future!

While here they spent Saturday afternoon with Norma Fotheringham.

A very exciting game of men's baseball was played last Sunday afternoon between Irondale and Gooderham. This was the first game in the finals.

Irondale held the lead in the early innings but Gooderham ended on top, 13-11. This could have been anyone's game. In the last inning with two out, Irondale had three runners on. The ball was hit far into left field but was caught by Rick Billings, thus leaving the three runners on.

Vince Billings on the mound with Eddie Dewey behind the plate did a good job as did the whole team. A nice crowd of fans was on hand.

Hubert Alsop's cousin, Janet Alsop, of Beaverton, with her son and daughter, paid him and Evelyn a visit last Sunday.

I was sorry to know Bruce Staley is in Haliburton Hospital. We trust he will soon be able to return home.

Kinmount Korner

By MILLIE MOSS

A front window and an outside pop machine were broken last weekend when a car was backed over the sidewalk and into the premises of Scott's IGA store.

I was sorry to hear Hilda Buxcey had a nasty fall one day last week. When I saw her, one wrist was bandaged, the other arm badly swollen and the bridge of her nose was cut and bruised where her glasses had hit. I hope you're feeling much better soon Hilda.

I didn't realize the Queen was coming to Kinmount! First I had mentioned the new paint job and new roof put onto Kinvale Restaurant, later it was a nice new garage at Taylor's Esso, then there's the new facelift at Hockley's 5-$1.00 store, our bridge at the south end of town has had men busy working for some time and now I see Fuzzey's, last Monday a.m., was having their front lot paved. Nice new apartments were built above the LCBO store and much work has been done in the improvements to the railroad station. Keep it up folks and we won't recognize old Kinmount. Lots of work is being done on the highway too.

The Freeman/Watson household had an unwanted guest last week, in the form of a flu bug. It seems the whole family has been sick.

Happy belated birthday to Steven Freeman on September 21.

Three euchre teams from the Kinmount Legion went to the Haliburton Legion September 22 and at the finish, number two and number three teams won the honours and will be headed for Peterborough to play on October 20. Good luck to you at that time girls and congratulations this time. Winners on number two team were: June Grozelle, Vivian Anderson, Lil Taylor and Nora Brandon. Number three team winners were Kay Allen, Lil Platt, Marj Coulter and Gertie McKay.

Joan Mills, who is a daughter of Win and Bill Wilson of RR 1, Kinmount, is also a grade one school teacher and some time before the Pope was to arrive in Canada, Joan asked her young pupils, "what important man is coming her to visit very soon?" The youngsters' answer - Michael Jackson!

If you have meat you'd like to have cut and packaged call Chris at 454-8467. He sure was a busy young man, cutting and packaging a pig for a customer one day last week when I stopped by there.

Friday, September 28, a one ton truck travelled north on 121 highway and turned into the yard of Rokeby Lumber. The men left the truck and somehow it slipped into reverse, coming straight across the road and into the verandah front at the premises of Mary and Hugh Phillips. Hugh thought it was an earthquake, but Mary didn't hear a thing. This all happened around 8:00 a.m., about 15 minutes after the school bus bound for Fenelon Falls had passed the spot. Thankfully no one was injured.

That frost sure made a mess of the flower gardens. Now we'll probably have some nice days again.

Results of the St. Patrick's CWL card party September 25 (nine tables) were: ladies' high, Nora Crego; ladies' low, Ruby Schell; men's high, Hugh Phillips; men's low, Ambrose Watson; lone hands, Estelle Mahood.

Thanks to the Haliburton County Home Support Services for their autumn newsletter. I usually do receive the newsletters but this one, to me, was especially a very interesting one. These people do a great job and they are there to help you in any way they can. There's the Meals on Wheels, Wheels to Meals, Foot Clinics, Fone a Friend, all kinds of get togethers, swimming programme to name but just a few and it's only as far as a phone call to 457-2941. I liked the piece - "How Old is Old?" taken from "Time on Their Hands". How old is old? That is like asking how high is high. Old is when you no longer care what goes on around you. Old is when you no longer interest people. Old is when you no longer want to hear the happy laughter of children and listen to their fairy tales. Old is when everyone is wrong and you are always right. How old is old? You can be old at 20 or 30 or 90. It depends on your outlook on life. Little children can be old - children who have been starved for love or food. A little child who is not wanted and who has never known a parent's love can be very old. Who is to say who is old? It is not a question of white hair and slow-moving body. It is not the added years; it is something inside of us. How old is old? That is a debatable subject which you will never be able to answer. If you keep on dreaming and planning for tomorrow and enjoying today, you never be old." I can only add Amen!

Stay well and happy, phone me at 488-2353, read the Echo and remember: "the Pentagon is so big, it's very easy to get lost there. In fact, every year, one hundred billion dollars do."

Norland Natter

By KELLY GRAHAM

The Norland Horticultural Society had a pot luck supper on Friday, September 28. It was held to raise money to erect a cenotaph. Each member brought a contribution for the dinner and paid for a guest. The dinner was followed by slides by Rotha Bryant. There was also a game table and a miscellaneous table. I'm sure a good time was had by all.

The Women's Institute recently held a "Grandmothers" meeting. There were 36 people present and the following people got their gold lifetime membership pin - Elizabeth Fryer, Jean Weeks, Leona Fountain and Mae Perry. Jean Stewart read the points of what the members have done during their three years of service. Annie Watson, Hazel Gostlin and Eleanor Crane presented the pins. They also served an afternoon tea.

Congratulations to David and Suzanne Archer of Coboconk who were blessed with a baby boy. Timothy Ryan Thomas was born on September 6.

The pre-school resource centre is once again coming to Norland. Yes, the mobile toy and book library will be parked in front of the community centre on October 31 from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. It will visit Coboconk on October 11 from 10:30 a.m. to 12 noon. I hope everyone with small children is taking advantage of this free service.

Some of you may have noticed lob-ball or baseball tournaments the last few weekends at Ward Park. These tournaments involve teams from the area and the money raised from them go towards the Norland Athletic Association.

Vernon and Jack LeCraw of Norland recently returned from a three week vacation in Europe. I will have some more details a little later.

The recipe books put out by the organizers of the Kids Co-op program will be available within the next few weeks. The books will feature lots of great recipes and advertisements from local businessmen.

Wilberforce News

By WINNIE SCHOFIELD

Members of the 4H Club held a banquet for their leaders and parents at the Christian Education Wing of the United Church on Friday, September 28. Attending the event were special guests Mrs. Christine Dukelow and Mr. Mark Leahey, 4H directors from the Agricultural Office in Lindsay.

Following the dinner president Marsie Jordens called on the guests to present achievement awards to members who had completed their projects and had attended at 75% of the meetings.

The Wilberforce 4H Club, formed in April, was a combination of three clubs, each containing six members. There was the Horticulture Club under the guidance of leaders Pat Jordens, Gerald and Bessie Shackleton. Members David and Marcie Jordens, Tracy Tremblett, Angie Waugh and Lyle Robinson learned all about gardening by planting, growing and weeding, etc. Maurice Bradley provided instruction for the Swine Club members who were Michael Poppe, David Jordens and Marcie Jordens, leader of the Goat Club was Paddy Jordens with members Angie Waugh, Tracy Tremblett, David and Marcie Jordens.

Products of the Horticulture Club were displayed at the time of the banquet. The Swine and Goat clubs had held their achievement day at the Monmouth Agricultural Fair on July 14.

The club is enthusiastic about plans for the future. A winter 4H Club will be formed later this fall when a list will be made of possible projects. This will be announced later. New members are invited to join. For more information call Maurice Bradley at 448-2850.

To raise money for their club the 4H members are conducting an on-going bottle drive. They are presently planning for a trip to the Royal Winter Fair.

The above information is from David Jordens.

Don't forget the Autumnfest celebration that takes place this Saturday when there will be plenty of interesting things to see at the Memorial Centre where you will find a flea market, craft display, German foods, etc. This is always a fun day with a dance at night to top it off. See you there.

Abandoned fields like this one may be put back to use under an agricultural land registry scheme proposed by the Haliburton County Farmers Association. The registry would put land owners in touch with farmers interested in renting fields for pasture or crop production.

A nearby neighbour died this past week after a long illness. Mrs. Marjorie Henderson has battled heart disease and diabetes for years and for the last few months has been with daughter, Betty, Mrs. Jim Kirkcaldy, at Ajax. Marj suffered a stroke there and lived a few days, dying on Monday morning. Her body rested at a funeral home there. Our sympathy to Betty and family.

Mrs. Frances Nesbitt arrived home Sunday night from St. Thomas where she had been baby sitting while her son Ron and his wife Linda had a trip to Japan. Ron is a karate enthusiast and has several degrees and went to Japan to learn more about the art of karate. They enjoyed their time in Japan and learned much there.

Thanksgiving is coming up and local churches will be having special services. Make it a point to go out to your church and be a part.

Gordon Timleck is still in Ross Memorial Hospital. A card of cheer would mean much to him.

Ella Caister has been in hospital and is out of hospital just now at the home of Steve Caister in Lindsay.

Flo Ward has been ill in hospital, in Peterborough and Mrs. Mae Basinger has been in Ross Memorial Hospital with pneumonia. Remember these folks in your prayers.

Greg and Wendy Renaud and family of Bradford were recent visitors of Mrs. Mary Limrick.

John and Gwen Faulkner and girls of Peterborough were recent visitors of the Ross Faulkners.

Ann and Bill Goode and boys of Queensville were weekend visitors of Annie Marles.

Congratulations to Sanford and Fanny Richman who celebrate their 65th wedding anniversary on October 1. These folks are confined to the house but are cheerful and enjoy each other's company (after all these years) and could show the younger folk that true love does exist and marriage is until 'death do us part'. Best wishes, folks.

Gwen Rutter, her daughter Jane and Jane's husband Don Fountain and boys of Barrie recently enjoyed a nice holiday in England visiting a number of relatives and friends there.

Mrs. Ada Fisher and Evelyn Marles of Lindsay were lunch visitors at our house on Friday.

UCW hold event at camp

By WILMA TAMBLYN

The 23rd annual event for women of the United Church of Canada was held at Camp Quin-Mo-Lac on September 7, 8 and 9, 1984.

The theme, Telling Our Story, Sharing our Faith was led by Rev. Frances Hare of South Mountain. The ladies were encouraged to share their story with a new found friend.

Jean Hodgins of Brockville led sing songs.

Each presbyterial had made a poster depicting 10 years in their local organization. The Peterborough effort took the form of a bouquet with each flower representing one aspect of faith.

West Guilford News

By E. COOPER

Darren Sisson was home for the weekend. He leaves on Monday when he goes to Cypress for six months with the Canadian Armed Forces.

Several members of the Haliburton Legion Pipe Band from West Guilford, including Earl, Eleanor and Andy Cooper and Judy Precoor, also Alan Cooper from McMaster University, attended the presentation at the C.N.E. on Saturday. It was a Royal Salute to Her Majesty by the Canadian Armed Forces and included a Guidon ceremony, massed bands and Highland dances.

St. Andrew's Church was beautifully decorated this past Sunday for the annual Harvest Thanksgiving service. The fruits of our labours were offered in the form of garden vegetables, flowers and jars of preserves and decorated the windows and front of the church in thanksgiving to God.

The ACW ladies who live over Kinmount way came over to Hyland Crest this September 27 day. We had a birthday party for those who had a birthday in September. They not only brought a lovely lunch but a delicious birthday cake served with ice cream. The way we were treated seems just like a dream. Then Doris played the music for a sing along. We would just like to say thank you for coming.

We would like to thank Lois and Jean Stevens for coming Thursday night, the bingo numbers to call. Some had very good luck, others no luck at all.

Teddy Carr won four bingo's. Millie Wood said she did too. Others didn't win a cent and are feeling rather blue.

We had no sing song this September 28 day. Our entertainers are on holiday. We discussed court cases instead, how to win a court case and still keep your head.

This being the colour season is an excellent time to take pictures so the cottages and homes can be presented in the best possible way.

If you are contemplating selling your property this fall or in the spring, please call us as soon as possible so we might capture your cottage or home at the most opportune time.

signatures was recorded supporting the efforts being made by this municipality to eliminate the difficult and dangerous curves at Buck's Bay area.

John Waltho from Otter Lake requested through the clerk's office that council be made aware the gravel deposit over the years leaking through the retaining wall has caused difficulty in docking boats in this area. Council directed Page to investigate same and arrange for this problem to be rectified.

Dave McDonald then reported to council. A report was given as to number of permits issued during the month of August 1984. There were 15 permits with an estimated value of $66,940.

Council was given a report on some infractions to the Ontario Building Code/Municipal Zoning By-law No. 839 in respect to cottage property development. McDonald gave a full documentation as to how his office was handling same.

A letter from Ministry of Natural Resources informing council that a 1/2 ton vehicle with a box on the back parked a considerable length of time with tires flattened at the Access Point Fletcher Bay was noted. McDonald was directed to inform the owner of said vehicle that this must be removed from current site onto his own private property.

General accounts were paid in the amount of $1,702.25.

The clerk informed council that Paul Dorman of OME Insurance Brokers Ltd. had visited with her and requested that council consider setting time aside to compare what his company has to offer in comparison to Frank Cowan Company Limited. Council directed the clerk to invite both these companies for an audience with council during one of the upcoming night sessions of council.

The first annual Muskoka Metric Marathon will be held on October 7, 1984 and the clerk was advised to send out a letter of support from the municipality in respect to said marathon.

The clerk informed council that Mrs. Payne currently doing janitorial work at the municipal office building would like to be replaced. Errol Delaney currently employed by the Township is to take over said duties at such time the clerk is given a date when Mrs. Payne will not be available.

Councillors Joyce McKey discussed the issue of Municipal Policy requiring restructuring with the idea that the final draft be implemented effective January 1, 1985. The clerk was to note that a special meeting be set up sometime in November or December, 1984, to work on said policy document.

Councillor Edward Vallance discussed the trail system of Dwight-Oxtongue Snowmobile Club indicating the number of kilometres of trail system to be maintained by the club in order that a determination can be made as to Municipal support in comparison as to trail system the Dorset Snowmobile Club has to maintain. The clerk is to receive data as to number of kilometres in the Dorset Club system.

A special meeting of council was held on September 19 to discuss a draft development proposal by Maxwell's on Part Lots 21, 22 and 23, Concession 11, Sherborne Township.

A lengthy discussion took place with all those in attendance at the meeting. Jack Maxwell presented his proposal and advised that it would take place in phases. Stuart Reid advised council on the environmental/technical aspects of this proposal and the environmental impact on same. James Cruickshank and John McDermott advised council and Maxwell of their concerns regarding the development. It was concluded that application should be made for rezoning and that a public meeting should be established as the first step in order to see the reaction from the ratepayers affected in the area of the proposed development project. It was also indicated that the cost factor involved would be high and that it could be done in phases so that a financial burden would not be so great but would protect the municipality's position. Council indicated taht this type of proposal would be of tremendous benefit to the municipality, however, we must proceed with caution.

Legion News

By MABEL D. BRANNIGAN

Welcome to Chrisy Bishop, Hazel Whittaker, and Tim Pritchard, who were initiated as associate members at our last general meeting.

President Bruce McKay called a special meeting on September 18 to keep the executive informed on the proceedings of the proposed land purchase, for the purpose of constructing an apartment building for veterans and senior citizens. This was a follow up to a meeting with Legion and Municipality of Dysart representatives. Ms. Gibson, a housing consultant, and Mr. Reimers, an architect, both from Toronto, were guest speakers. At the last general meeting, a motion was duly made, seconded, and carried unanimously to purchase the said property.

Congratulations to Rose Pringle on winning the $500 bingo jackpot. A snowball prize of $348 was also won. Other attractions are the turkey and ham rolls at Thanksgiving, and Comrade Bailey's Saturday night entertainment. Details are posted on the clubroom bulletin board.

Among Branch donations last month, the Haliburton Atom hockey team were the recipients of $200 to help purchase team jackets. This was in recognition of their fine achievement last winter.

Further details on the Cadet movement should be available soon as the official papers have gone to Provincial Command.

A bus and several cars from Branch 129 attended the District Drumhead Service in Beaverton on September 23. The rain held off for the massive parade to the cenotaph which included 150 sets of colours and several bands. Nearly 500 members attended the Divine Service after the parade. Guest speaker, Provincial Officer Irv Snider, reminded members of their ultimate goal in caring for sick and needy veterans. He stressed a face-to-face contact with all veterans to encourage them to join the Legion. In addition, he asked for more assistance for associate members who are bringing new and younger ideas to the organization.

The beautiful and impressive ceremony of piling and unpiling the drums was conducted by Drum Sergeant, Com. Don Johnston, and carried out by the Haliburton Legion Pipe Band.

The next general meeting will be at 8 p.m., October 4, when Zone Commander Mel Robertson will make an official visit to Branch 129.

Galway/Cavendish

At a meeting of Galway/Cavendish council September 10, the following matters were considered:

Gerard Villeneuve attended the meeting to discuss the accident which happened at the Reid Road Land Fill Site in June. It was suggested that the clerk contact Workmen's Compensation and the Township Solicitor to finalize this situation.

Craig Baker attended the meeting to discuss his proposed plan of subdivision on Picard Lake and to present to council the changes they had requested on the proposed subdivision Survey. The Township noted it is satisfied with the impact study prepared by the Ministry of Environment which states that the lake will in fact support the twenty-six (26) lots proposed and the Township supported the private roadway, being fifty (50') feet wide, west of proposed lot one, to be deeded to the future owners of lots 13-18 and 22-26. Recommendation #1 of Ministry of Environment's report dated August 1984, is to be incorporated into the Subdivision Agreement.

Severance application B-146/84 (Mary Ann Girard, Concession A, lot 7, Galway) was supported as it conforms to the North Kawartha Official Plan and Zoning By-Law 78-43.

A petition from Silver Lake Cottagers' Association requesting council to assume Little Silver Lake Road was received and deferred.

Council had no objection to the extension of the west lot line on the draft survey plan for Katherine Davis to purchase the 66' shoreline road allowance.

The Townships will petition Ministry of Transportation and Communications for interim subsidy from January 1, 1984 to August 31, 1984, in the amount of $233,373.34.

Mr. and Mrs. Syvret's minor variance application on Plan 7, lot 20, Salmon Lake to construct an addition on their cottage 53 feet from the high water line, was denied, as the Township does not support further encroachment on the 70' setback.

Gregory Arnold's minor variance application on Concession 2, part lot 30, Gold Lake to construct a storage shed 35' from the high water line, was denied, as the Township does not support construction of new facilities on the 70' setback.

Minden WI meeting

By JEANNE SEARS

The September meeting of the Minden Women's Institute was held on the 26th at the Library Cultural Centre with Mrs. Lyman Cox presiding. Some 22 members answered the roll call of amusing incidents at school and two guests were made welcome. A very successful bake sale had been held in August and Mrs. Cox thanked all who helped. Mrs. W. Moore had sent 24 cards since June and collections for this fund and Pennies for Friendship were taken.

Correspondence was read and Mrs. C. Wilson is to go as our delegate to the area convention. District buses will take delegates from Fenelon Falls.

Plans were made for some members to serve tea at Hyland Crest Senior Citizens Home on October 18.

Mrs. Kernohan gave details of a planned bus trip to the Royal Winter Fair November 14 and some names were turned in; others may book their way by calling her.

The group enjoyed a movie, "Summer Hill", of a different type of school, shown by Mrs. C. Lacey. Mrs. Stiver showed some her quilt ideas. Mrs. Wilson, convenor of education and cultural affairs, had arranged this programme and the group was appreciative.

The meeting closed and a social half hour followed.

the next meeting is October 17 at the cultural centre at 2 p.m. A travelogue is planned and all ladies are welcome.

For you bird lovers out there, here's a real treat for the birds: 2 cups suet, ground, 2 cups cracked wheat, 2 cups sugar, ½ cup water and 1 cup cornmeal. Heat the ingredients in a double boiler for 20 minutes. Pour in a greased pan or mold and let cool. When cool cut in chunks and hang in trees, etc. It is nourishing for the birds.

Upon answering the door last weekend I was handed a large pot containing four or five different plants. They were beautiful and it was a nice gesture. I appreciate the thought and I didn't know whether to cry or what. In all these years nothing like that has ever happened to me.

Eldon and Laureen McCracken have their daughter, Dorothy Sharkey and family with them for a few days.

I'd like to apologize to Charlena Warder for misspelling her name.

Farmers Association News

By ERNEST HILLS

September 15 marked the end of a very successful undertaking on behalf of the Haliburton County Farmers Association. Throughout the year the fund raising committee, and its chairman Bob Hollobon, have assumed some demanding initiatives in meeting their objectives. Twice now they have organized pot-luck suppers for area farmers, in an effort to promote community spirit and develop the Association as a representative body within the Haliburton agricultural community. Those occasions provide some good time, excellent food, and an opportunity to meet with neighbours.

During the summer the committee and members of the association joined in the sale of raffle tickets which featured a bonanza of agricultural related products. At this time I would like to thank the members of the fund raising committee, as well as the membership, who worked so diligently to make the raffle a success. In addition a note of appreciation should be extended to the community at large for their support and enthusiasm. A lot of tickets needed to be sold to reach the objectives sought, and the community and the summer tourist population responded in kind.

The highlight of the committee's efforts were focused on the dance held September 15 in the Minden Community Centre. Featured was the bank Aaron Slick, who provided outstanding entertainment with an assortment of music for everyone's enjoyment. Again, our thanks and appreciation go out to the band for their efforts towards an enjoyable evening, and to the individual members of the band for sharing their considerable talent through their music.

Throughout the dance members in attendance were requested to participate in the drawing of winners for each of the prizes listed in the raffle. It is a pleasure, on behalf of the association, to extend our congratulations to the following prize winners: bushel of turnip, Shirley McGee of Minden; bushel of squash, Delisle of Belleriver; bag of potatoes to Reg Burk of Haliburton; four litres of syrup to Ruby Schell of Kinmount; a goat was won by Jack Weeks of Minden; five ducks were won by Norm Graham of Minden; five chickens to Maxine Snell of Minden; one lamb to Erin Featherstone of Pickering; Audrey Vick of Gelert won a side of pork; and Bert Smith of Jackson's Point won the hind of beef.

My personal thanks go out to everyone who so kindly participated in the draw, and to everyone who purchased a ticket in support of Haliburton farmers. All area organizations depend to some extent on the business people in the community for some level of support, and the business people always seem to extend something a little special to the Farmers Association and their efforts. We would like to express our deepest regards to the following businesses and individuals who donated beautiful prizes to the 'farmers hop' and the spot-dances which were held during the evening. Our thanks to John Burgess of the County Feed Store, Jerry's Barber Shop; K&W restaurant in Minden; the Minden Drug Store; Steve and Val Lougheed of Shakonna Kennels; the employees of the Minden Post Office; Dollo's IGA; Mabel's Hair Styles; as well as Lynn and Rolly Hollobon, for their generous donations.

Finally, on behalf of the executive, and with regards to the interests of the entire Farmers Association, I would like to extend my personal thanks to Bob Hollobon and his band of merry fund raisers; to each of you, our deepest appreciation for your commitment and outstanding achievement.

obstacle -- Jane Topping's wetland.

Damage to the wetland and its fish and wildlife need not be permanent. With new beavers to restore the dam and water levels, it may spring back healthier than ever in a short time. Of greater overall concern is the harm done to the whole cause of conservation by this senseless violence and the Ontario Drainage Act which lies at the root of the whole sorry issue. No other cause comes to mind where parties to a landuse controversy in this province have chosen to argue their case with dynamite. Conservation organizations are committed to resolving such conflicts through more open and balanced public discussion. The blast at Glen Elbe is a slap in the face to this effort. And even the slightest hint of its success as a pressure tactic would spell far greater disaster still.

Amazingly, that possibility still remains, since neither federal or provincial governments have closed the door to a potential subsidy for the drain, even though no money remains in their joint drainage fund.

The issue became purely political in the instant of the explosion, yet the politicians, especially Ontario Agricultural Minister Dennis Timbrell, remain unwilling to take a stand and continue to pass the buck to their deadlocked bureaucracy. It is nothing short of tragic that the expectation of eventual public funding for the drain has been allowed to persist, leading the issue to such a dangerous climax and casting the provincial commitment to wetland protection as something of a bad joke.

Conservationists have repeatedly urged both federal and provincial governments to restrict subsidies for wetland destruction as a basic principle of their commitment to protect this dwindling habitat. At the same time positive incentives, such as taxation relief for wetland owners is also required. Hereto proposals have been made, but not heeded.

With a new federal minister in place, Sinclair Stevens, the concerns and proposals must doubtless be repeated. Both Mr. Stevens and Mr. Timbrell must hear that dynamite politics has no place in Ontario.

Local youths meet prince as awards presented

Steven and Jeffery Dawson of Haliburton were among 125 young people from British Columbia, Alberta, Ontario, Quebec, New Brunswick and Nova Scotia, who were invited to meet Prince Phillip in Toronto last Saturday. The occasion was the presentation of the Duke of Edinburgh's Gold Award Certificates of Achievement at the Toronto Hilton Convention Centre.

The Duke of Edinburgh's Award, known as Canada's most prestigious achievement award for youth, is a challenge from Prince Philip to all Canadians between the ages of 14 and 25 to excel at leisure-time activities of public service, journeys of exploration, skills or hobbies and fitness. There are three awards to be earned - Bronze for those over the age of 14; Silver, for those over 15; and Gold, for those over 16.

The "Award" itself consists of a lapel pin or brooch of the appropriate metal and an inscribed Certificate of Achievement. The Dawson brothers earned their awards while studying at Lakeview College in Peterborough.
